3. Consent Agenda
a. Minutes from February 24
No objections were made, and the consent agenda was adopted as presented.

4. Reports
a. Campus Community Advisory Committee
A representative from CCAC reported that the committee has met once this month and once the previous month. They discussed the Campus Community Shuttle program, and the possibility of adding more stops, including to Stop and Shop and the train station. The representative made note that there are fliers at the Info Desk about the community shuttle stops. The committee also discussed what should be done during the Raymond Ave construction next year, because many of the local businesses will be negatively affected as a result of the construction. The representative mentioned that the school actually owns the Delforno Deli across the street, and reported that there will be parking issues all along Raymond Ave.

For the rest of the semester, the committee will be working to encourage discussion on items on the agenda from last semester. Student Life suggested that the committee discuss Vassar's ownership of the Dollar Store and Laundromat, and the upcoming renovation of Juliet's Cafe.

b. Founder's Day
The Founder's Day committee had one general interest meeting two weeks ago, but it was not well attended due to weather issues.

In order to determine the theme, the committee sent out a campus-wide survey to determine possibilities. Afterwards the committee consolidated the list of possibilities to a Top 10, and as a committee voted on a Top 4. A second survey was sent out to the campus, and the winning theme chosen was Candyland, which was announced at the second general interest meeting last Tuesday.

The committee is encouraging student bands to audition for a Battle of the Bands, and is discussing what movie should be screened on Founder's Day. Two possibilities are the Candyland move and Willy Wonka, although the committee is open to suggestions.

c. Arlington Special Events
A representative from Arlington Special Events reported that the group has talked about the town's community, the upcoming construction on Raymond Ave, and Parents' Weekend. They are also discussing the new Bookstore issue, because Barnes and Noble technically owns management of the campus bookstore, but is not involved in the day-today aspects of the store. Their contract is up for bidding, and both local bookstore franchises and national franchises will likely bid. In general, the representative reported that the new bookstore is very exciting.

d. Food Committee
The Food Committee representative reported that tomorrow was the big day, when the three finalists for food services were coming to campus. The three finalists were Aramark, Sodexo, and Park Hearst. The Food Committee is meeting with the companies, in order to ask them questions on behalf of the interests of the student body. The three main important issues identified by the committee are food quality, sustainability, and the meal plan structure. He clarified that what is meant by a new meal plan style; the new plan will not affect how students get their food, but only how they pay for the food—it will be a new style of payment, not a new style of services.

Other issues being addressed include the addition of Nutella to the ACDC, which is a big hit, and a discussion of the Kick Coke campaign. Reed Dunley from the Kick Coke campaign went to the committee asking for support for their cause, and while the committee liked the idea, they were uncomfortable with supporting a general blanket statement of Kicking Coke from the campus.

e. Finance Report

f. Exec Report (Activities)
Activities reported that the V-Card machines are currently on hold, due to various miscommunications. They will be available soon. He also reported that there are currently discussions being held in the aftermath of the Girltalk performance, including crowd control at campus events, alcohol policies, and bringing off-campus performers to Vassar. Additionally, he announced that the two-week rule (which dictates that programming reservations need to be made at least two weeks in advance) is being strictly enforced.

g. ViCE Report
Evan reported that there is a very big event coming up, about which rumors are currently going around. The act will be coming on April 11, which is Parents' Weekend. ViCE is currently engaging in a conversation about what will be the largest space available for the act, and is talking about possibly moving Athletic plans around to utilize Walker. They are facing the challenge of having to accommodate everyone while still making the space feel full. Evan made note that there will be a significant effort made to accommodate Vassar students buying tickets before the general public.

ViCE is also still programming Jazz Nights, will be hosting an After Hours Founder's Day concert featuring an American singer/songwriter, and is working on planning for next year's staff. There will be open selections for the staff, and the new ViCE Exec Board will be decided after April 20 submissions and voting on April 27. Anyone interested in getting involved with ViCE can go to the General Body meeting on the Sunday after the full week of classes following Spring Break.

5. Certification of Gaming Club
Activities moved to certify the Gaming Club. 2010 commented that he saw no reason to certify the organizations, and a representative from NSO agreed, saying that it would be more advantageous for the gaming organizations to work together. Activities moved to fine the Ski Team for $100, under Article B-2, for non-compliance with Activities and Finances requests. A representative from the Ski Team objected to the fine, because the organization until recently did not realize the issue was a matter of punishment, instead of a purely financial matter. Council members engaged in a discussion about whether a fine is necessary. Activities moved to call the motion to question; all of Council voted in favor, and the motion passed.
